

Ben Steele – Commercial Reference

I have just retired from Blackburn Diocese, where I was Diocesan Surveyor from 2007 until February 2019

Ben Steele started working for the Diocese as a contractor on the clergy occupied housing portfolio in 2014. The portfolio consists of about 250 individual properties located throughout Lancashire. Ben carried out both day to day repairs and minor project work.

I always found that Ben:

- Delivered a prompt service
- Managed the jobs well and kept the Property Team and occupiers well informed on job progress
- Coordinated his work well to suit the requirements of both the clergy and, if required, other contractors
- Provided a good standard of workmanship
- Ensured health and safety requirements were met
- Worked to agreed budgets
- Generated positive feedback from occupiers about the good friendly service he provided
